This historic book may have numerous typos, missing text or index. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. 1918. Not illustrated. Excerpt: ... CHAPTER XXX. Churches Of Greene County. The church made its appearance in Greene county with the first influx of settlers. Even before the county was organized in 1803 some of the settlers were holding religious services in their homes. The Presbyterians and Methodists came in with the organization of the county, and while there were other denominations represented, yet these were the prevailing denominations for several years after, the county was organized. The Friends were early to be found in Silvercreek township, but they have never been numerous in the county. Other Protestant denominations appeared and organized congregations before the time of the Civil War, and practically all now found in the county were well established prior to the '60s. The Catholic church dates from 1844 in Xenia and the other Catholic congregations are of later date. A study of the religious life of the county reveals some very interesting facts. It is well known that the rural church is fast disappearing, and this is as true of Greene county as of all other counties in the United States, at least twenty-five churches that once had flourishing congregations here having been abandoned. An intimate study of the churches of the county shows that there have been at least one hundred and two organized within the limits of the county. They have been divided among the townships of the county as follows: Bath, 7; Beavercreek, 7; Caesarscreek, 9; Cedarville, 9; Jefferson, 5; Miami, 10; New Jasper, 2; Ross, 44; Silvercreek, 10; Spring Valley, 8; Sugarcreek, 8; Xenia, 25. A number of churches have irregular services throughout the year; others have services only in the summer months; a few have but one or two meetings in the year. Some have Sunday school every Sabbath, and others have Sunday...
