Cuore/The Heart of a Boy Edmondo de Amicis

In Italian cuore means heart, love and sincerity. Edmondo de Amicis titles this book cuore on the basis that Though Italy is unified in politics, territory and nationality; the true unity should be the unity of hearts and souls. The leading character Enrico is now in fourth grade and he makes many new friends: the noble and righteous Garrone, the sincere and enthusiastic Coretti, the assiduous and dogged Crossi, Derossi who is excellent in both character and learning, the vain Franti and the bad boy Nobis The leading character writes vividly with a loving heart the things that happened around him. This book tries to show that education is not just about imparting knowledge but what is more important is to cultivate the emotions and nourish the soul of children and teach the children to be loving. Open this book and learn a lesson about love.
