The body of a prostitute is found in an Edinburgh close and the police are quick to label it as a random act of violence, but Detective Constable Faro believes there's more to it when he finds a playing card, nine of diamonds, on the corpse. His superiors scoff at his suspicions, but days later a man is attacked in the street, and left badly bruised and battered with the nine of diamonds in his pocket. Faro seizes on the connection and it is not the last calling card. But what is it that links the victims? Beset by hostile superiors and a police-hating public, Faro feels he may never crack this confounding case.

REVIEWS

‘And where better to place a Victorian detective than the streets of 19th century Edinburgh, with its elegant society masking the city’s delinquent underbelly.’ Edinburgh Evening News
